

Ira M. Cobe of Cobe & McKinnon, financiers and promoters.

B. E. Sunny, president Chicago Telephone Co.

James A. Patten, retired grain gambler.

Insull is not only president of the Commonwealth Edison, but chairman of the board of the People's Gas, receiver of the Oak Park "L," director Northwestern "L," Metropolitan "L," Chicago City and Connecting Ry., Chicago & Interurban, besides being president of the Middle West Utilities Co., which controls 25 other public utility companies in Illinois and other states.

In fact, he is at the head of a gigantic gas, railways, light, heat and power trust.

John J. Mitchell is president of the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank and is a director of the Chicago Telephone, Commonwealth Edison and People's Gas companies.

Associated with him and his board of directors of the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank—with a capital stock of $5,000,000, a surplus of $10,000,000, and deposits of $93,383,041.55—are Henry A. Blair, one of the Big Six; Stanley Field, John G. Shedd, and Chauncey Keep of the Marshall Field store and estate; James J. Hill, railroad magnate; Frederick T. Haskell, Charles H. Hurlburt, James C. Hutchins and Frank D. Stout.

On the board of directors of the Commonwealth Edison with Insull, Mitchell, Blair and Patten are John G. Shedd of Marshall Field, Robert T. Lincoln, chairman of the Pullman Co. board, and others.

On the Chicago Telephone Co. board with Mitchell and Sunny are Chauncey Keep, trustee of the Marshall Field will, Robert T. Lincoln, Marvin Hughitt, chairman of the board of the Northwestern Ry., and Theo. N. Vall, head of the Bell phone trust.

Mitchell and Patten are also on the board of People's Gas with Insull.

Sunny is on the board of directors of the First National Bank and the First Trust & Savings—with deposits of $178,472,233.90, a capital of $15,000,000 and surplus of nearly $15,000,000. On this board are representatives of the beef trust, the harvester trust, the steel trust and the railroad combine.

Cobe is a director of National Bank of the Republic, with deposits of nearly $24,000,000. On this board with him are the vice president of the Cudahy Packing Co. and the president of Swift & Co.

The Field estate is a large holder of public service securities, with representatives on the boards of the Chicago Telephone Co. and the Commonwealth Edison.

The Field estate has also three directors of the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank, with over $93,000,000 deposits; and John G. Shedd, president of Marshall Field, and Chauncey Keep, trustee Marshall Field estate, are on the board of directors of the Merchants' Loan & Trust Co., with deposits of nearly $54,000,000. Stanley Field, vice president of Marshall Field & Co., is a director of the National City Bank, with deposits of over $28,000,000.

On the board of the Merchants' Loan & Trust Co. with Shedd and Keep are Enos M. Barton, chairman of the board of the Western Electric Co., owned by the Bell phone trust; Wm. A. Gardner, president of the Chicago & Northwestern; E. H. Gary, head of the steel trust; Cyrus H. McCormick, head of the Harvester trust; John S. Runnels, president of the Pullman Co., and others.

On the board of the National City Bank with Stanley Field, are Edward F. Carry, v.-p. American Car & Foundry Co.; Richard C. Hall, western selling agent of the rubber trust, and David R. Forgan, Alfred L. Baker and others.

On the board of the First National and First Trust & Savings with Sun-